

Service should always be superior. We happen to think it should also be “EZ”!

With fewer moving parts, our superior design allows our padding machines fewer service issues than competitive products. As a testament to their superior durability, every EZ Padder our clients own is still in use today.

Imagine having superior equipment which stills operates years later as well as it did the day it rolled off the production floor even after thousands of hours of field use.

Your company will benefit from the superior engineering and superior service that keep our EZ Padders in the field, maximizing your return on investment each and every day.

Our team consists of skilled, professional technicians who service the machines they have designed and built. As a point of pride everyone involved in the process is also an operator and focuses their considerable talent towards ensuring a great client experience.

But you don't have to take our word for our superior service, just read what our satisfied clients are saying about us.

We make it “EZ” for you to your job, making certain your margins are on budget, and your production schedules are on time.

Even accessing our superior service technicians is “EZ”. Simply email us at sales@ezpadders.com or call us (432) 664-4500.
